Ok I have 2 of these I am finshing up repairs on and the info tag on the back of one has model 350 written in in pen over the original pencil writing.

Now looking at it with magnifying glass the over written serial of 7054 I could see was Accually 2054 which makes way more sense, but I'll be dammed if that model number when looked at magnified does not look like 350, how is that?
What could it be close to if not 350 as even let's say 850 does not make sence!

I will give it another closer look at later today with even a stronger magnifier.

Another thing I noticed with one of these 2 1965 heads is that it has pots made in Italy , and they read strange when you check there ohmage and compare that to the ohmage there metal case is stamped with!

What gives here bud?
How I wish you where still with us to ask this question!
