I have an old Kustom 3x15 cab that I bought a few years ago. Sadly, someone lost all but 4 of the screws. The thing rattles like hell, which I assume is because there are only 4 screws holding in the back. Whoever had the cab before me put black sticky shit all on the inside to keep the back closed, I removed as much of it as I could when I got it, cause when I opened it up I got the black crap all over me.

Anyways, if anyone knows where to get more of those screws let me know.

And let me know if getting those screws would even help with the rattling.

Thanks!
