Well,

ET will deny it, but I've been hanging out with him too much because I have to have the BLACK now!

He gave me one of those tapes, you know the kind you listen to when you are sleeping to learn a foreign language or something. Well, the next thing I know, I woke up Sunday morning and had to have a BLACK 2x12 cab with a BLACK 100 head! What's going on here? Anybody up for some trading? Give me a shout! ET is going to help me get some pics of my RED combo on the site. Stay tuned.

Take care all,
Jake

I knew it... I just knew it...its not my fault... I swear!!!!...I haven't even tried to talk him out of his red rig...I mean hey..you guys know my wife won't even allow one in the house under a permanent arrangment...and I'm not trying to sell him one of mine...no sir...so what can I say...kids...jeeeeeshh! hey...I have seen the red...and it is nice..didn't get to play her...but it is all original....completely original...could likely stand to replace some leaky parts...this based on comments from Jake comparing the tone of mine to his...looks like the rig was played but not abused...the bottom is even nice...just two small cuts in the fabric and you have to be on top of it to see those...if I didn't already have two of these rigs...and if it weren't so red... I'd like it myself...specially since its right in town...but I know there are others that will love it...buy with confidence....ET! king of black!!!

Jake, I have two of the 100 heads with two of the 2x12. One cab. has original speakers and the other has celestion G85-12 loaded in it. Take your pick. I should have at least one red to stay up with JC. I can send some pics if your serious. I have both heads with and with out reverb. Don Hello all!

Well, it happens pretty fast around here! My Red combo is now spoken for and I think she will be well taken care of. Thanks Jimm!

Meanwhile I'm gonna sneak away to a little corner of NC and grab my Black rig.

From what I have heard (ET!), there is no cure for this craziness, but it sure is fun!

Thanks again to all that responded.
-Jake.

C'mon... I'm cured....you can be too...it only takes planning...and decisive determination...and about 2 dozen rigs!!...but guys I swear...this one is not my fault.. (or maybe it is)...I did give him a complete demo on the different rigs so he was able to hear how each combo and the 2x12s compare...course they were mostly black rigs....but you know young ears aren't as discerning as old ones I guess.. I mean how could a little black 2x12 sound better than a RED 4x10...can't be....well anyhoo...looks like Jimmbo got himself a shiny red rig...I think he'll be pleased with it...I'm just kicking myself for having not made the pawnshop rounds...kudos to JAke for his diligence in the hunt...oh and speaking of hearing...try hooking up to the 200 3x12 guitar rig...oh my goodness...thats a loud amp!.. I'm going back for more as soon as my ears stop ringing!!

Cure! Cure! There is no cure! Just remission. I went for 28 years without a tuck and roll, and a year and a half later 53 pieces are nestled in the nursery. I have not found a 12 step program yet, to cure the addiction for kustoms and ebay. I am doing better. Gotta run and check ebay. Don

Holy cow Don... I guess I didn't realize how many rigs you've gotten this year! its great to know that so many amps have been salvaged from church basements and spare bedroom closets...and pawn shops..they would be just wilting away...but now have good homes...plenty of armor all...and an occasional guitar signal pouring thru them....so I guess next years reunion could just be at your house?

ET, you are all welcome to come to my house for our next convention, but I would encourage we do it in the summer, unless you really love snow. Tom is the one who got me back into kustoms and has 33 pieces, so we could have quite a nice show here in Kustom City. Red and gold are the only colors we don't have yet. Tom has a pristine K200-2 2x15 silver. That one is one he will be buried with. It is showroom condition. Back to the hunt for more gear. Don
