SOLD

I have my Krossroad AR200 2x10 EMPTY bass speaker cabinet on ebay.

The auction ends today.

It is white silver sparkle tuck and roll.

The enclosure has been enlarged by 29% so it could be the best sounding Krossroad AR200 210 cabinet in the world.

Dimensions are 24 1/4 H (27" H with casters) x 23 1/4 W x 14 3/8 D

Weight is 48 lbs.

The impedance is switchable (for example 4 ohms or 16 ohms)

It has quarter inch and speakon inputs.

The Kustom logo plate alone is worth as much as $20 to $30.

The casters are painted silver (not chrome).

A Kustom K100-1 or K100-2 head (21 1/2 inch width) is a good mate for this speaker cabinet.

A Kustom K200 head (25 inch width) is wider and will overhang the speaker cabinet by about 1 inch on each side.

(If you see my ad, don't forget to read the 'famous ebay sayings' near the bottom. The first part of each one came from actual ebay ads.)

Krossroad would have made it into a combo amp, but the company folded and sold off some empty cabinets. The cabinets had only handles and grille - no back, casters, or speakers, etc. The one that I have has never had an amplifier in it.

But, the better manufacturers include both aion kina coenzyme Q10 and the protein keratin in their anti-aging creams. I have used creams containing those ingredients myself in order to get rid of forehead lines and I have been very pleased with the aion kinah results. I am sure that

In the same way that UV radiation causes increased free radical damage, so do cigarette smoke, air pollution and other environmental toxins. You can't aion power level always avoid air pollution, but you should be able to avoid smoky environments and if cheap aion power leveling you smoke, you should quit.
