This vintage Kustom K150-8 4X10 Amplifier was given to my son over ten years ago and has been sitting in my closet ever since. It believe it dates from the early 1970's. It has the "tuck and roll" finish in black. The amp is in good condition given its age. The black Naugahyde is in surprisingly nice shape - no rips or tears, just a couple of cigarette burns. There is a tear in the mesh of the speaker cover, about the size of a silver dollar. There are no rollers.

I believe it is all original. I am hoping a Kustom collector might like it.

This amp needs a little work to get it back to perfect working order. For some reason the left side inputs do not work. The power light in the front does not turn on. There is some residual noise and hum in the right speaker. I also do not have the footswitch. I live in the DFW area and will respond quickly to any questions. Pick up only. I am asking $250. To be frank we were in fact searching for a Kustom K150-8 4X10. My husband is a lover of antiques and it was he who had asked me to check for vintage amplifiers on the internet. Anyway I am going to show this to him when he comes from office today. I am sure that he will be interested in buying it.
