These have sold,, thanks.

Howdy Kustom fans,

Up for sale is a pair of 3x15 cabinets with horns in the top position. These have always sounded great and of course look just as good. As I understand it the head was working but a few parts were scavenged from it before I took ownership. I believe that the reverb unit, a few input jacks, the tuck/roll case and the power cable are all that are missing. Looking through the head I don't notice other missing items but I'm not that familiar with these. The speakers/horns are original and I believe these cabs and the head originally were sold to a small school as a PA system in the late 60's. I've owned them for years and would like to keep them just in case but storage may be an issue in a year or two and I've not used them in a while as I no longer gig so I'd love for these to go to a Kustom fan that will appreciate them. Delivery may be possible around various parts of the SouthEastern U.S. though West TN/North MS will be easiest. $350 seems like a good price but I'm open to offers.
