
Subject: 2 knobs for Kustom Lead-III

Posted by Parsons on Thu, 09 Jan 2014 23:25:46 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hey,

since the Fender skirted knobs do not really match up with the others, I try my luck here. Does anyone perhaps has some leftovers (maybe from a broken Amp) or knows where one can get them?

I will pay for it, of course!

Thanks.

Subject: Re: 2 knobs for Kustom Lead-III

Posted by Kustom_Bart on Fri, 10 Jan 2014 00:28:28 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I sent you a personal message.

Subject: Re: 2 knobs for Kustom Lead-III

Posted by Parsons on Fri, 10 Jan 2014 16:45:03 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thank you!

Already searched through little bear electronics, they only have the Fender knobs.

Subject: Re: 2 knobs for Kustom Lead-III

Posted by chicagobill on Fri, 10 Jan 2014 17:09:03 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Probably the only place that you will be able to get those knobs from are from another Kustom amp. I have not seen them used on any other brand of amp or in any parts catalogs that I have looked at.

The knobs that we have discussed here before are the ones used on the older tuck and roll models.

You could just replace all of the knobs to make them all match.

Subject: Re: 2 knobs for Kustom Lead-III
Posted by Parsons on Fri, 10 Jan 2014 18:36:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thank you!

At least your answer tells me that I can save time and stop searching for them any longer. I guess, if you not have seen them anywhere else, I can be sure, that I won't find them either (sitting in Europe).

Replacing all, to have them match each other will be my last resort. I will keep on searching for a defective Amp on Ebay now. Unfortunately these are rare here, the tuck 'n' roll models seem way more common (among the contemporary china build ones of course). Actually a shame. I do not understand, why these Amps weren't sold more in the days and other designs are used by the Chinese. I love that I am able to get a really warm sound on that Amp and on the other hand I am able to create a nice old style funk sound, too.

Thank you!

Subject: Re: 2 knobs for Kustom Lead-III
Posted by chicagobill on Fri, 10 Jan 2014 18:59:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

By the time that that amp came out Kustom had been sold a few times and were carried by fewer dealers. Plus there was a strong bias for tube amps and vintage amps here in the U.S. and generally solid state was a little less popular, at least for a little while.
