I recently purchased a blue 2x12 cab and it has 8-ohm Eminence M12G speakers in it. I really like the sound, but these speakers are no longer made, and I'd like to either find more or get the nearest replacement (Customer Service at Eminence told me those speakers had parts that are no longer made, and they had no direct replacement).

Appreciate any leads or suggestions. Thanks!

If your wanting the original speakers again, your best option is to watch ebay listings and maybe in time something might surface. Of course your other option is to just buy new speakers. Surprised that Eminence didn't recommend a replacement speaker for your originals. The other guys here can give you some suggestions for replacement ones. Hopefully someone will know the spec's on your speakers and will be able to match up something at least close.
