I am looking for the cool chrome stand for my silver k200b 5 P.A. If anyone has one to sell I'm interested. If this is a hard to find item and people have come up with DIY ways to make a replacement I am interested.

these are rare, the last one that came up on ebay was NOS and sold for almost $450! I would look to have one made new.. save you some bucks.

a couple years ago somebody sold a couple of them without any of the fittings or anything on ebay..... so you may see something here or there and if you do you might want to get at it

I'm going to make one out of a waiter's tray stand. lol I think it might turn out nice. I'll post a pic when I get it assembled. There is a website that sells handwheels. I just need to figure out the threading for the side hardware and get some lock washers.
