There is no such thing!
The last tuck and roll amps that came out of the current manufactures of Kustoms was in 2001, these where a 400 watt Bass head, and a 50 and 100 watt two channel tube guitar head of which I have the Bass and 100 watt head.

Also from that release of amps was 2-12" or 4-12" guitar cabinet but without a horn in either cabinet!
The Bass head could be had with a 2-15" or 4-10" cabinet of which the 4-10" cabinet had a horn .

The model number of the Bass head is TRB-400 , the guitar heads where TRT 50 or TRT 100.

Your talking about the 4-12's cabinets; maybe someone can tell me why one of my cabinets has the oval ports on the back of it and the other doesn't. I was under the impression that on bass cabinets you wanted a sealed box other than the bass ports on the front and on guitar cabinets it didn't really matter.....was more about the speaker backing as to open or closed. I thought I have a bass and a guitar cabinet but both speakers sizes are 12 in each cabinet. What's the scoop?
