

---

Subject: Kasino 100 Combo

Posted by oren hudson on Sat, 07 Oct 2017 02:00:18 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I got this pristine 1970 Kasino Combo-100 last week. Kustom clones in nearly every way except the back panel amp options. I'm not sure what to make of them and with very little info that I can find, I was hoping some of my Kustom buddies might be able to shed some light. Along the back panel from left to right are the power cord, two stacked what look like 2 pronged electrical outlet plugs and two stacked jacks labeled "to module input" with the RCA speaker jack underneath these two "module" jacks. Never seen this particular layout. Your input needed.

---

---

Subject: Re: Kasino 100 Combo

Posted by stevem on Wed, 11 Oct 2017 10:04:33 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

The module outputs are just like on the K250 heads where they are ment to feed another power amp in another speaker cabinet.

Are the AC outlets switched and only come on when the head is powered up, or are they as long as the head is plugged in?

---

---

Subject: Re: Kasino 100 Combo

Posted by oren hudson on Sat, 14 Oct 2017 13:34:53 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Thanks Stevem. Since I posted this, I've been slammed with business work and haven't been able to get back to the Kasino. Maybe this weekend.

---

---

Subject: Re: Kasino 100 Combo

Posted by pleat on Sun, 22 Oct 2017 23:33:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Kasino uses a twist lock AC plugs to power additional powered speaker cabinets. They would be wired to the on/off switch of the Kasino, so when you power down the amp it kills the AC to any additional power speaker cabinets.

pleat

---

---

Subject: Re: Kasino 100 Combo

Posted by oren hudson on Mon, 23 Oct 2017 01:53:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Thanks pleat. I've still been slammed and haven't been able to get back to the Kasino. However,

I did manage to score a '69 K200B in black while on a recent business trip. One of the cord wraps was broken off, but otherwise, nice. If you know of an available cord wrap, I'd be interested.

---