It has been confirmed. Bud passed last night. True entrepreneur of an american success story. The purple light will never glow as bright as it did before Bud passed.

Truly sad news. I only had the opportunity to talk with him once at the meeting in Chanute. He was as nice as could be. I wish that I had been better prepared to ask him more questions, but kind of like meeting an idol your mind kinda goes blank.

I hope that somebody writes the book that should be written about his life and Kustom. My thoughts go out to his family and the rest of the Kustom community.

Sad to hear , but it would seem he was a very fine person and in being so had a life and accomplishments that gave thousands upon thousands great joy , and even to this day great joy and that's the best thing any person can do for the Human race!
I am sure he's quite happy, content and well where he is , we will miss you Bud and thanks for your dreams you turned into great gear for us all!!

RIP Bud. Very nice guy that I had the pleasure of meeting and talking with several years ago in Nashville.

Here is the link to the Bud Ross article, apparently I can't post web addresses, so you can copy and paste this at least. It's a nice article.
