Hi Gang,

If anyone is interested in a buddy for their amp, Uniroyal (from the Naugahyde home page site) makes the Naughas (Kustom Kats). They aren't quite the same as the vintage ones, but people seem to want a ton of money for the vintage ones. They have a bunch of different ones that they offer. I ordered the Classic (not the custom one for $10 more), and they do state that they use what colors they have available for them. I assume drops and end of roll stock they have. I followed up with an email that I have a vintage cascade amp, and would love to get one in cascade if I could. I got an email back from a nice woman named Patti, and she said that she could make out happen, but may take a few days to get the material. I have 2 daughters, so I ordered 2, she made me a charcoal zodiac one also. Both have the gold zodiac as the second color. Here is a photo:

Cool! So the only difference with the Custom is that you get to choose the colors, correct?

Here's the link:

So even though Cascade and Gold aren't listed as choices, they'll do them if you ask?

Yes, that is correct, but they were nice enough to make up Zodiac ones for me (after I ordered the standard Classic ones, I sent them an email and photo of my amp). Even though I didn't choose the custom colors option, they basically did a custom order for me. As a matter of fact, I don't see the zodiac color options in the custom selection. I just thought I'd give it shot, if they could make them great, if not, I'd take what they sent me. I think that they have an independent person making them up for them per order. I don't think the factory is making them up.

My son ordered one of these and gave it to me as a Father's Day gift - what a great son!
