I have a bass and a guitar that has a case I am interested in selling,. The bass is in good shape besides a crack in the pickgaurd that has been covered with another piece of plastic around the input jack. The action is really low on this. The guitar is in good shape and has the Bigsby with the Kustom case. however it does have finish flaws. A few knicks and several swirl type imperfection on the face of the guitar.

I really don't want to ship these but would consider it if it was necessary. I know these photos aren't close up but they are the only ones I have uploaded right now. I can send more photos to your email address if you are honestly interested. As far as price I'm really open to a reasonable offer. I want these to go to someone that can appreciate them however I would like to get as much out of them as I can.

I am going to be consolidating most of my gear so I may have something else you may also be interested in. I don't really have and rare and mint type collectable stuff. However I do have a lot of pieces in different colors.

Thanks.
Matt
