I just had to say something. My profile here is set so I should be getting email notifications when a new topic is posted or replied to, but I almost never do. Yet when one of those stupid spam posts hits, boy, I sure get notified then! (Mercifully, they get deleted quickly, but still....)

Does Hayden or anyone else know why that is? I really like reading over most everything that's posted here - sure would appreciate knowing when there's a thread going that I might have something to contribute to, or at least keep up with.

It' was just two weeks ago when I gave up and contacted Hayden as nearly every morning I would have to delete spam post and ban there posters.
now we have that under control, but I will email him about your other issue and see what can be done, sit tight!
