Can someone help me identify a Kustom amp? It has no tags or numbers Says Made by Ross with a blue light on bottom center with 2 pop out fuse buttons on upper area. Unable to upload pic even though I have posted here before in the past.

Your Kustom is a A series amp and they only way now to date it is to slide it out of its case to view the chassis.

The control pots will have production dates stamped on there sides and the power transformer will have a date stamped on one of its end Bell covers and the two big can type power supply filters will have ink stamped dates on them.

Pictures can not be posted up tio this site.
