Hiya.

I'm based in the UK and have just acquired a k150-1 amp head, but it's missing it's Tuck 'n' Roll sleeve/case.

I just wondered - are any other sleeves/cases interchangeable, size-wise?

Thanks! :)

The metal face K150 non combo head was a one of a kind size case.
In all likelihood you will have to make a case or if your lucky and find a used K150 combo cabinet then you could cut the speaker section off it and atleast have most of the case with its T & R covering!

Thanks for the swift response. :)

Damn, that's a shame - I was hoping I could pick something up second-hand.

Not a problem, though - fabricating a sleeve should be quite straightforward...

Well you never know , you might find a badly blown up one that's not worth fixing and commander the cabinet from that!

The 4 machine screws that you will need to hold it into the cabinet you make are 10-32.
