After receiving no replies to a few private messages I sent, I've been trying to figure out how to determine if the messages were actually received? Help.

If your talking about a message sent between you and someone else on this site other then a moderator like myself, then there is no way to confirm such took place.

All I can do on this end is for instance is confirm that you sent a message, I can't confirm that it was revived.

Ok, thanks. I'm just a little green here navigating the site.
